U.N. WILL CARRY ON ACTION IN KATANGA

U.S. Satellite Back In Full Operation

Telstar's 'Brain Fever' Cured By New Electronic 'Aspirin'

NEW YORK (AP) — The great new feat of the space age is a service station operating from earth.

It cured Telstar, the ocean-hopping television satellite, of a kind of brain fever that had knocked it out of action for six weeks. This service station is no ordinary kind. It is a scientific laboratory and the keen engineering brain that figured out what ailed Telstar and how to get rid of its fever not unlike an aspirin relieving a human fever.

The stuporous thing is that it was done while Telstar whizzed around the earth out of reach at heights of 592 to 3,501 miles. Telstar even gave an unexpected assist in its recovery.

The story is told by Bell Telephone Laboratories engineers, who repaired Telstar so it can again exchange live television programs across the Atlantic. They demonstrated their success Friday.

Telstar was launched July 10 and beamed brief television programs to Europe and back. But in November, Telstar began refusing to answer command signals from the ground to turn on power to relay signals.

Then the service station of knowledge and intelligence came into play. Bell labs gives credit for this feat to Robert H. Shennum, Henry Mann, John S. Mayo, Eugene F. O'Neill, Alton C. Dickies, Walter L. Brown and Walter M. Gibson among others.

They puzzled, asked questions, and came up with right answers. They knew Telstar would encounter radiation in the Van Allen belts. Telstar equipment was designed to withstand it.

But Telstar ran into radiation 100 times stronger than anticipated, they said. And they said they don't know for sure how much of this was artificial radiation created by the high-altitude nuclear blast over the Pacific in July.

They did know that radiation can affect the surface of transistors. It can create ions, or charged particles, from gases or solid materials in a transistor.

The ions can collect on the surface of the semi-conductor and cause harmful electrical changes. The effects become worse if a voltage is present.

The voltage serves to keep the ions concentrated. And storage batteries could supply such a voltage.

But the transistor can recover if either the radiation is removed or decreased, or the voltage is removed or decreased.

Under the high radiation encounter, the ionization apparently was hitting hard particularly at one or more transistors in the decoder in Telstar the circuit that receives and acts upon command signals from the ground.

HORROR OF WAR — Wounded Belgian miner Albert Verbrugghe sits in car containing the body of his wife, Madeleine, and a friend, Aline van den Eyke. Both were killed by Indian U.N. soldiers who pumped bullets into the car as it tried to speed past the troops in Jadotville, Katanga.

Bunche Makes Move Upon Congo Arrival

Report Comes Amid Talk of Conflict Within Organization

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Dr. Ralph Bunche has pledged that the United Nations will carry on its action in Katanga until the U.N. force is assured freedom of movement throughout the secessionist territory.

The U.N. undersecretary for special political affairs made the statement on his arrival here late Friday night amid reports of a conflict between U.N. headquarters in New York and U.N. officials in the Congo over the wisdom of holding any new talks with Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Bunche said he was confident his talks here with U.N. officials would prevent a recurrence of "the temporary breakdown in effective communication" between U.N. headquarters and officials in the field.

The breakdown had aroused speculation that the U.N. force had overstepped its orders when it captured the mining town of Jadotville, 70 miles northwest of Elisabethville, two days ago. The Belgian government contends U.N. troops violated an order by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant in taking the town.

But Bunche declared the capture of Jadotville had been part of a plan approved by Thant last October.

Thant's dispatch of Bunche to Leopoldville raised a diplomatic flurry over the next move in the conflict.

Bunche did not say whether he expected the United Nations to switch to political means to establish its freedom of movement or whether the U.N. military force would continue a drive that in nine days has all but shattered Tshombe's army.

Reports from Jadotville said the U.N. flying column was halted there apparently waiting for its armor and transport to cross the Lufira River, about 15 miles to the rear, where bridges have been demolished.

Earlier reports said the Indian Irish and Ethiopian forces at

Rhodes Makes Two More Appointments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The naming of agriculture and highway safety directors by Gov. Elect James A. Rhodes brings to 12 the number of persons appointed to Rhodes' Republican cabinet which takes office Jan. 14.

Rhodes named Lebanon newspaperman Warren C. (Bud) Nelson to head the Highway Safety Department in the incoming regime. Nelson, 53, will succeed J. Grant Keys who holds the post in the administration of outgoing Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Greene County Auditor Fred E. Morr who also manages 1,500 acres of farmland, was named to head the Agriculture Department. He will follow Democrat Robert Trehune in the post.

Nelson managing editor of the weekly Lebanon Western Star for 20 years, was named. Rhodes said "because his major function will be the selling of safety to the public."

As chairman of the Republican Executive Committee Nelson heads the party's policy-forming body for Warren County.

His fraternal affiliations include the Central Ohio Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society; Press Club of Ohio and Miami Valley Press Association.

Nelson's wife is the former Mildred North of New Carlisle. They have two married daughters and two teen-age sons.

Morr, 39, of R. 3 (Old Springfield Pike) Xenia in addition to his auditing and farming activities is a graduate lawyer. He also is executive committee chairman of the County Auditors' Association of Ohio and president of the 22-county southwest district of the auditors' association.

He was selected for a conservation farmer of the year award in 1954. A 4-H conservation adviser and Junior Fair conservation superintendent, Morr attended Ohio Wesleyan University and the University of Cincinnati. He is an Air Force veteran of World War II.

He resides in Xenia Twp. with his wife, Mary Christine and three young children. A Cincinnati native Morr is the son of Hamilton County Auditor Fred J. Morr.

City Income Tax Forms Are Mailed

More than 2,000 envelopes containing income tax forms have been mailed in recent days by the City Income Tax Department to local employers, self-employed workers and to Salem residents who work out of town.

Employers were sent with holding forms for the last quarter of 1962, which are due Jan. 30. Final forms for 1962 are to be filed for gross earnings for the entire year including vacation and sick pay. City Auditor Helen Coyne stressed that a final return form should be mailed even if no money is owed.

Income from rental property is taxable. Not taxable are pensions, interest and supplementary unemployment pay, she explained.

Declaration forms showing an estimate of expected earnings for 1963 are to be used by persons making quarterly payments throughout the year. These forms are due on or before April 15.

Small business loss or loss on rentals may not be deducted from the income of a salaried employee, according to a ruling from Columbus.

A copy of a ruling received by Mrs. Coyne states: "A salaried employee who conducts a private business on the side may not deduct any losses suffered by the private enterprise from his city income tax payment."

Dirksen Asks Steadying of U.S. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has signaled a GOP drive in the new Congress to hold the economy line against President Kennedy's domestic and foreign spending programs.

Such presidential proposals as federal aid to education and the financing of health care for the elderly through an increase in Social Security taxes probably will be turned down again, Dirksen told reporters Friday.

On Kennedy's plans for a tax reduction, Dirksen indicated most Republicans would take the position he and House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck hold: There should be no cut unless spending is slashed.

On the foreign aid front, Dirksen foresaw deep trouble ahead for the aid program. These difficulties, he said, will be compounded by the expected submission by Kennedy of a $99-billion budget.

"I think the temper of the country is turning against foreign aid," Dirksen said. "The people don't see any real results from it. They are getting tired of pouring money into a program they don't think is effective."

Dirksen indicated he has no intention of joining with Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana in offering a compromise rules change when Senate liberals launch an effort to ease the Senate debate limitation requirement.

Dirksen also told the reporters, meeting with him in his office on his 67th birthday, that he and Halleck expect to resume weekly news conferences shortly to point up their party's differences with the Democratic administration.

For economy reasons the National Republican Finance Committee has cut off the funds to finance staff operations for the conferences, widely known as the "Ev and Charlie Show." Dirksen said, however, he anticipates no difficulty in getting the money elsewhere.

Court Gave Auditor Right to Have Counsel

LISBON—Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp ruled Thursday that Salem City Auditor Helen Coyne was entitled to choose an attorney of her choice to represent her in a mandamus action filed against her by City Council.

It was reported erroneously yesterday that Judge Sharp had appointed Atty. John Baucknecht of East Palestine, but he only allowed her to appoint the attorney and made the city liable for her counsel costs. Mrs. Coyne then indicated that she will employ Atty. Baucknecht.

The lawyer will defend the auditor in an action brought against her by Council to force her to pay a $12.842 parking meter bill. The auditor claims there was no official authorization for the purchase of meters by Mayor Dean Cranmer.

$363,333 Receipts Are Highest

Post Office Sets '62 Income Record

Gross receipts from postage stamps and stamped envelopes at the Salem postoffice in 1962 set an all-time high of $363,333.76, an increase of $18,907.46 over 1961.

Postmaster Ray Reasbeck reported today.

Reasbeck indicated the increase mirrors the upward trend of business in Salem since rates for both 1961, when receipts totaled $344,426.30, and 1962, were stable.

He said business and industrial mail constitutes 60 to 65 percent, even as much as three-fourths, of the total receipts, with the balance in personal mail.

The upswing in money intake has been fairly constant over the years, Reasbeck said, although he has figures since 1915 which strikingly tell a tale of the see-saw of American economics.

Following are receipts for the 13 four-week periods of 1961 and 1962, with 1962 listed first:

Nominees For Jaycee Award Sought

The Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce is seeking nominations for the "Outstanding Young Man of the Year 1962" in Salem, according to Ford Joseph, Jr., Jaycee president.

George Weyer, chairman of the Distinguished Service Award Committee, reports that nomination forms have been sent to churches, businesses, clubs and organizations to determine which young man 21 through 35 years of age has contributed the most to the community during the year. Nomination forms are available at the Farmers National Bank, First National Bank, or from Weyer.

The winner of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award will be announced at the Jaycees Annual Bosses Night to be held Jan. 31 at Timberlane. The local winner will be entered in the national competition which chooses America's 10 outstanding young men. Deadline for entries in the Salem competition is Jan. 15.

Past award winners were Atty. George Bowman in 1957 and Chester M. Brautigam in 1958 when the competition was open to all persons of all ages. Since age limits of 21 through 35 were placed on this award, the winners have been John Rance, 1959, and Charles Tomlinson, 1961. In 1960 there was no selection.

Guard To Be Studied by Army, States

WASHINGTON (AP) — A committee of governors comes to grips with the Army today in a bid for concessions that would permit the states to swallow a drastic reshaping of the National Guard.

Secretary of the Army Cyrus Vance arranged to meet with a seven-man committee headed by Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia. This committee, representing the 50 governors, was armed with certain proposals advanced by state Guard commanders.

These proposals would not alter the basic elements of the reorganization plan which calls for breaking up four Guard infantry divisions and eliminating a net of 338 company and detachment size units considered outdated.

It appeared unlikely the meeting would produce any final agreement, although the committee may form some recommendations for the full governors conference.

One political factor seemed to work against any early pact between the Army and the governors. About 19 states are in the process of swearing in new governors, and these men are likely to want to make their own decisions.

Under the law, governors must approve any changes in the National Guard within their states.

Last July the governors conference took a stand against the plan. In quiet negotiations that followed, the Pentagon yielded on some details such as recognizing the special needs of some states for engineer, military police and other units to handle hurricanes and other disaster situations.

Also, Congress ordered the Army to make its best efforts to keep the Guard at 400,000 men instead of cutting it by 33,000, as the Army had proposed. This removed one of the irritants.

Just a month ago, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara sent each governor a revised Guard troop list for his state. At the same time, McNamara ordered into effect a parallel re-vamping of the federally controlled Army Reserve.

The state adjutants general—uniformed commanders of the Guard—gathered here a week later and found Army authorities determined to push the reorganization to completion.

Faced with this, the adjutants general tacitly withdrew further opposition to eliminating four lowered Guard divisions and reforming them into streamlined brigades.

Try as they might, the Guard chiefs were unable to agree on a unified position on the plan as a whole, and they backed the problem to Vandiver's committee with

Lisbon Couple Employed for Kyes Home

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners have temporarily appointed Harry Fiskes, 56, and his wife, Twyla, 47, of Lisbon RD 2, as superintendent and matron of the Kyes Memorial Children's Home in East Palestine.

Both have had previous experience, having worked at the Boys Village in Smithville and a boys school in Oakdale, Pa.

The couple this morning began to clean and ready the building for occupancy. It had been closed for the past year because of a shortage of funds.

Robert Bycroft, county welfare director, said the couple will receive a combined salary of $350 plus subsistence allowance for a six-day week. He said he hopes to secure another employee to work during the couple's day off.

The home was opened originally in February of 1960.

The home, which is permitted a maximum of seven children, was given to Columbiana County as a memorial to Atty. and Mrs. L. M. Kyes of East Palestine.

It was closed in 1962 by the commissioners who said it was too expensive to operate.

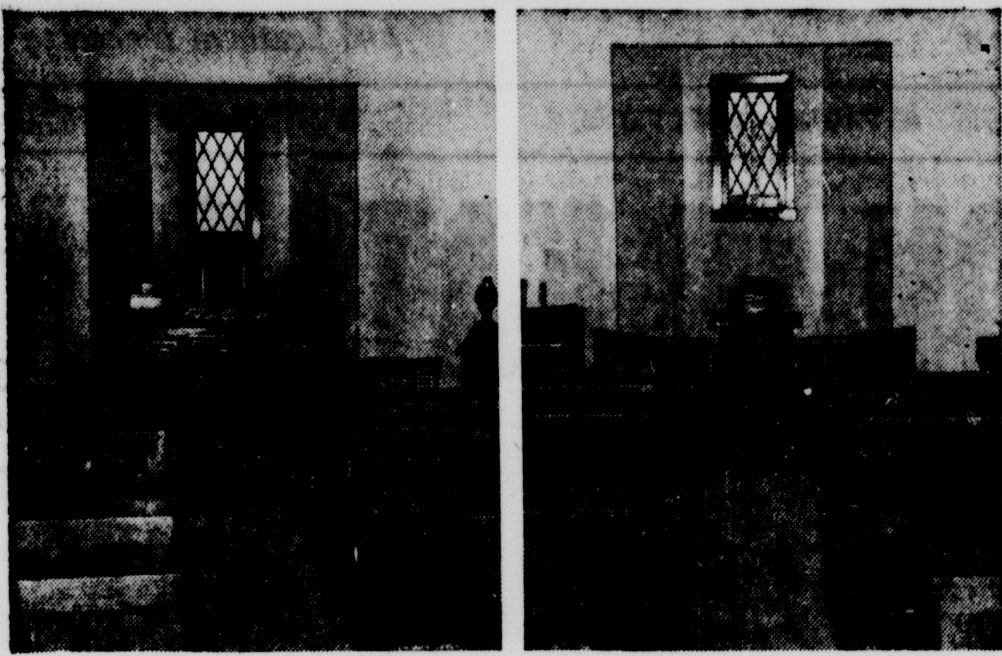

Bycroft said that another Civil Service examination will be offered for permanent positions of superintendent and matron at the home. An earlier examination scheduled in 1962 was canceled because of a lack of qualified applicants.

Catholics, Protestants Build Church

KEYSTONE, Neb. (AP)—Fifty-four years ago the town of Keystone needed a church.

In a rare display of togetherness, townsfolk built a "combination" church to serve both Protestants and Catholics.

At one end was a Catholic altar; at the other, a Protestant altar.

Pews with reversible backs were installed.

For Catholic Mass, parishioners faced the Catholic altar.

Then pews were flipped over and the congregation faced the Protestant altar.

The church, with a seating capacity of 70 to 75, remained in use until about 1948.

It still stands as a monument to Catholic-Protestant amity and is put to use occasionally for funerals, weddings, confirmations or graduation exercises.

Keystone has only one regularly used church now, a Presbyterian Church. But women of the Keystone Ladies Library Club keep the combination church spic and span.

Tourists who want to visit the unique church in this North Platte River Valley hamlet (population 85) are directed to Howard Hayes, owner of the general store and keeper of the keys.

Hayes estimates the church has drawn between 600 and 700 visitors this year.

LUTHERANS BELIEVE...

God is love.

Does this mean God loves us as a young man loves a young woman?

If it does, then God's love might be changeable—sometimes aflame, sometimes frigid, sometimes in between.

Obviously, the heart of the matter lies in the word love.

The word love—as used in the first line of this article—comes from a Greek word, agape, meaning "to give for the sake of another."

So, God gives Himself for the sake of another, namely, man. This He does in every moment of creation as He constantly creates the world and everything that's in it.

God also gave for the sake of another when He went to the cross in the person of Jesus Christ. As Scripture points out, "Herein is love, that a Man would lay down his life for his friends."

In the Man, Jesus Christ, God did just that.

Lutherans believe He did it for the sake of every human being . . . and that He wants you to believe He did it for you.

High card in Chicago's hand as cities nation-wide bid for the 1964 presidential nominating conventions would be McCormick Place, above.

The $35 million convention center is a block wide, three blocks long (365 by 1,180 feet).

Its vast hall (partially shown in lower picture) approximates the size of six football fields. In-building meeting rooms and restaurant facilities are ample to handle all activities of a convention.

Bonus enticements: Both GOP and Democrats could split the cost of preparing the hall for their conventions. • News media could set up for both conventions, and save astronomical expense of moving men and machines from one city to another.

U.S. Agency Studies Health Problems

The National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., is a government agency working toward a better understanding of the major health problems of the population.

From the agency's studies, many discoveries have already been made which are helpful in the early recognition or treatment of various diseases.

There are seven institutes and a clinical center. The National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases is making important studies of influenza, rheumatic fever, tuberculosis, malaria and allergies.

The National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases is studying the nature of the rheumatoid factor found in the blood of patients with rheumatoid arthritis. Since there is some evidence that rheumatoid arthritis may be the result of some form of hypersensitivity, close co-operation with the Institute of Allergy is maintained.

THE NATIONAL CANCER Institute is investigating the effects of radiation and various drugs and hormones on cancerous cells. Tests are being devised for the recognition of cancer in its earliest stages, when there is a better chance for cure.

The National Institute of Mental Health is searching for a better understanding of the causes of mental disease and such emotional and behavioral disturbances as juvenile delinquency, alcoholism, and drug addiction.

The National Heart Institute is interested in all phases of heart disease, abnormalities of blood pressure, changes in the blood vessels, and improved methods of operating on the heart.

The National Institute of Dental Research is studying the manner in which various chemical agents in our diet affect the teeth.

The National Institute of Blindness investigates cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, brain tumors, cataracts and glaucoma.

THE MOST RECENT addition to the Institutes is the Clinical Center. Although it is not an institution for medical care as such, it is the one and only unit that admits patients. While these patients are given the best of care, the purpose of their admission is the study of some unusual condition in which the staff is interested.

This means that the patient will be kept busy undergoing a battery of tests far exceeding anything he would encounter even in a well-equipped university hospital. He is often expected to remain in the Center for three or four months.

He is accepted for study only after his private doctor submits a complete medical history with the results of all the usual laboratory tests and the staff of the Center has decided that such a patient would further the investigations they were making at the time.

Patients are accepted from any part of the United States but they must pay their own transportation to the Center. They are not required to pay for the medical and nursing care they receive.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Jimmy was so fascinated by his new goldfish that we thought he'd forgotten about the other one. Then, suddenly, he looked up and asked, "Mommy, will this one die too?"

I tried, as gently as I could, to tell him that, in time, all things die. And as I did so, I realized how valuable it is for a child to have even as small a pet as a goldfish. For in observing a pet — even in suffering the loss of one — a child begins to learn a great deal about life, in a natural and understandable way.

But I warned myself, it is important to realize that he is learning only the visual, material part of the lesson. In order to understand what he is seeing, and what he is feeling, he must be taught its spiritual meaning. This is why religious education is so important. That is why Jimmy attends church with us . . . and he'll start church school, next fall.

Parking Meters Bill Dispute

Although the city of Salem is no doubt morally obligated on its $12,842 parking meter bill, City Auditor Helen Coyne appears to be within her rights in refusing to pay the claim.

No city, or school board for that matter, should enter into a public contract without a proper certificate from the fiscal officer that money is in fund to pay for whatever is being purchased. This is why Mrs. Coyne has repeatedly refused to pay any of the $12,842 owing to the Magee-Hale Park-O-Meter Co. of Oklahoma City for meters obtained from the firm by Mayor Dean Cranmer in November, 1961.

City Councilmen have admitted they gave the mayor a verbal "go-ahead" to buy the meters so that the municipal parking lot on E. Pershing St. and other downtown curb sites could be metered in time for the opening of the then-new off-street parking lot the merchants were clamoring for.

Perhaps the mayor was over-anxious and maybe some of the councilmen at that time knew what they were doing. The parking meter company has been in business long enough to have known that it should have checked on a proper fund certification, but then Solicitor Thomas Coe contends that Council's authorization was strictly legal.

As things now stand, everyone involved should be a bit wiser today in proper business procedure. The common pleas court has agreed that Auditor Coyne, named defendant in a mandamus action filed by the solicitor in an effort to bring the case to a head, has a right to employ counsel. A hearing date will be set and an opinion handed down.

Court costs and legal fees will be added to the expense of the meters which, incidentally, have been paying for themselves.

There has been some criticism that the city auditor was just being obstinate, but Mrs. Coyne is a good city auditor and always has faithfully executed the duties and responsibilities of her office. She is the guardian of city funds.

Fighting On Even Terms

No one is in any mood to rationalize the recent deaths of so many motion picture personalities from cancer, reaching a poignant climax with the deaths of Dick Powell and Jack Carson on the same day.

But many Americans aware of the endless repetition of tragedy in the day-to-day records of this dread affliction must have thought of many similar instances that do not make news because the victims are unknown.

All of us have witnessed this tragedy.

It is not the fact that human beings must die sometime and there is really nothing to choose between and among various ways of dying that adds pain to this category of tragedy.

It is the fact that human beings almost certainly will know enough about cancer one day to cope with it on more nearly even terms.

Not too many years ago tuberculosis was an even grimmer scourge than cancer. Smallpox, typhoid fever, the black plague, yellow fever—all these have scourged mankind.

In most parts of the world they have yielded to the pressure of public medicine and the widening knowledge of preventive medicine in general. Is cancer so different that men dare not hope to protect themselves against it too as more and more is learned about it?

The truth is, they already have made great strides. Thousands of people who would have been destroyed by cancer are still living because so much more is known about the disease now than was known only a few years ago.

It is not unreasonable to hope that by the end of the 20th century both cancer and heart disease will have been brought under control comparable with that now existing over afflictions that once scourged the human race in epidemic proportions.

Men are not dreaming of living forever. But they do dare to dream that they will learn enough about the two commonest killers to fight them on even terms.

'My Brother Made a Mistake'

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's offhand statement to a group of Cuban ransom fund donors that "my brother made a mistake" in the Bay of Pigs invasion in 1961 is being regarded by many as a damaging admission.

It is as though nothing about that unfortunate incident had been remembered, other than the fact it was a fiasco.

Has it been forgotten that the fiasco was the responsibility of Central Intelligence Agency and not President Kennedy, who accepted full responsibility for the fiasco in general, ordered a thorough investigation of CIA by retired Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, assisted by the President's brother Robert?

Has it been forgotten that the entire invasion operation had been planned during the Eisenhower administration and the new Kennedy administration took on faith the CIA's competence to carry out its plans? That was the "mistake."

CIA WAS NOT competent to carry out its plans. The agency's confidence in the Cubans preparing to participate in the invasion was misplaced; they fought among themselves over whether or not Batistas should be permitted to take a hand in overthrowing Castro, who had "liberated" Cuba from Batista.

There was no attempt at that time to shift responsibility. The Kennedy administration accepted responsibility fully. Its "mistake" had been monumental and historic. But it cannot be looked at now without due regard to the circumstances that led up to it.

President Kennedy had been warned by Premier Khrushchev that the Soviet Union would come to Cuba's defense in the event of U.S. attack. He had been assured by President Kennedy that the United States intended no military action in Cuba; that no U.S. armed forces would help to overthrow Castro's regime.

This was an issue of potential war between the United States and the Soviet Union, not merely an issue of how to insure success for the Bay of Pigs invasion.

AT THE TIME, understanding this, former Presidents Hoover, Truman and Eisenhower and even Gen. Douglas MacArthur declared their backing for President Kennedy. Richard M. Nixon assured the President of his support.

It was a touchy moment in history, and it cannot be disassociated now from the touchy circumstances that surrounded what happened.

President Kennedy made a "mistake." But it was not a mistake of military tactics. It was a mistake of government judgment.

He never should have trusted the CIA to carry out a plan whose implicit hazard was the possibility of full-scale international war over a small-scale maneuver that had been poorly planned and was certain to be poorly executed without the military help the United States could not give it without risking full-scale war in a state of unpreparedness.

Just Half-Crazy

By Truman Twill

The judge let a smile flicker around the corners of his mouth as he spoke to the Disconsolate Man, who had been brought before him on an insanity hearing.

"I remember you," he said. "They keep bringing you here year after year, and I know what causes them to doubt your sanity. I am inclined to see it their way. But fortunately for you I am able to see it your way too. I too could be half-crazy if I didn't have to act sane."

"Therefore, I am not going to declare you incompetent, even though that might be the easy way out. I am going to ask you to reconsider your recent course of action. If you will promise to bring your behavior down to normal standards, I will shelve your case. Agreed?"

"Agreed," murmured the Disconsolate Man. "I'm sorry to cause you this trouble year after year. You Honor. Something gets into me. I promise to do better in the future."

"If you do, it will be for the worse..." the judge was heard to say as he left the room.

What had happened?

The Disconsolate Man had tried to continue the spirit of Christmas after Christmas was over.

He had gone about his affairs tippy-toe, the way people do at Christmas. He had smiled at strangers, patted little boys and girls on the head, written tender missives to his friends and pressed folded bills into the dirty, ungloved hands of maudering winos on side streets.

Instead of taking down his Christmas decorations, he adapted them. He rearranged the lights to blink "Happy January," instead of "Merry Christmas."

He broadcast cheerful music from a loud-speaker. He invited friends to stop to see him, stressing that his door always was open.

One of the things he did that hoisted eyebrows was to give presents to children without letting them know where the presents came from. This was his idea of Santa Claus—not just an elf who came down a chimney on Christmas Eve but a generous sprite who gave gifts to people the year 'round because he enjoyed making them happy.

He sang the songs that made people feel good at Christmas, such as "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." He had a bell mounted on the top of his house and would give it a tug around midnight on snowy, clear nights.

This bell more than anything else put his neighbors in a huff. Any darned fool soft about bells on the midnight clear and who sang about angels and gave presents to people when it wasn't even Christmas couldn't be called normal, they reasoned, and for all they knew might have other nutty ideas.

They pointed out when the questions were asked, that the poor boob was taking peace on earth far too seriously for their own good. He was loving everybody and advocating tanses. Polynesians, even Communists.

Under close questioning, he had admitted he did not hate anybody — and that did it! That was when it was decided to have him declared incompetent before he did irreparable damage.

They didn't really believe the judge had his buttons on straight either or he never would have let the Disconsolate Man off so easy. Goodness only knows what harm a fellow like him running around at large might do when Christmas was over...

U.S. Hurt By UN's 'Illegal' Action In Congo

By DAVID LAWRENCE

If the United Nations — as operated today — had been in existence in 1776 the Thirteen Colonies in America might never have been permitted to secede from Great Britain. If the United Nations last year had wished, it could have asserted a right to send troops to the University of Meredith was enrolled as a student and to make sure that a sovereign state obeyed the orders of the federal government. These two hypothetical statements illustrate the extent to which the United Nations today, in invading Katanga to prevent its secession from the Congo, has gone beyond established principles of international law. Disobedience of the decrees of a national government is an internal matter. The right of revolution has heretofore been regarded as indisputable. The right of self-determination by peoples everywhere has been supported by the United States for many decades.

David Lawrence
Mississippi to see

During the last half-century — in which international organizations like the Hague tribunals, the League of Nations and the United Nations have been set up to apply basic rules of international law — there never has been a single encroachment comparable to what's happening right now in the Congo.

To secure unity by mediation and avoid bloodshed is a commendable objective, but the means being used—military force inside a country as between its rival aspirants for power — is just another form of illegal aggression.

THE PRESS of Great Britain is almost unanimous in denouncing the U.N.'s tactics as illegal and as unsupported by an provision of the U.N. Charter. The United States is being severely criticized, moreover, for furnishing the military equipment and vehicles to support the U.N. troops in the Congo.

Congress, which is supposed to have the right to authorize the use of American military equipment, has never sanctioned the giving of aid to the war launched by the United Nations against Katanga.

The London Daily Express says: "The direction of the United Nations has passed completely into the hands of a clique of permanent officials wedded to a policy of racial extremism. These men unleashed a war against President Tshombe of Katanga without a semblance of authority."

The U.N. has every right to call on its members to take collective action against an aggressor nation which disturbs or threatens to disturb the peace. This was the case in 1950 when the North Korean government, aided by Moscow, sent its troops across the boundary line into South Korea in what became a three-year war.

The United States, when called upon by the U.N. properly rendered military aid. The U.N. has played an analogous role in the Middle East but in every case the issue involved an invasion or threat of invasion by one country against another.

IN THIS instance, on the other hand, the several factions that constitute the Congo Republic have not yet agreed on a common plan for a federal government. Katanga has refused to accept all the orders of the "central government." But the full power of the U.N., including military forces supplied by member nations and financed largely by this country, now has been brought to bear on the State of Katanga to give up its autonomy.

This is a precedent that could have far-reaching significance in the future when the U.N. comes more and more under the control of the Afro-Asian bloc of states.

The use of the funds of American taxpayers for exploits in international politics around the globe presents an important issue to Congress. Its members have lately been growing sensitive about military help given in the form of foreign aid.

At a time when the American people are being told that they must tolerate bigger and bigger deficits in the budget because expenses to maintain troops abroad are high, the representatives of the citizenry in Congress might begin to ask questions as to the legality of some of the expenditures.

It so happens, for instance, that more than a million Americans in the various branches of our armed services are stationed in 41 different lands. Was each of these ventures authorized? What military commitments are involved for the future?

QUESTIONS of this kind cannot be brushed aside with the statement that the executive branch of the government makes foreign policy and that the president, as commander-in-chief, can order troops anywhere at any time.

While this is true as a broad principle, Congress has the right to be consulted on the continued use of its appropriations for military purposes.

Congress alone can declare war. The existing statutes do not furnish any legal basis for the spending of taxpayers' money to supply any military equipment to be used in a war that involves merely an internal dispute between factions in another country.

From the Files

10 YEARS AGO — Two Salem soldiers, Cpl. Ray A. Mercer of 274 W. Fifth St. and Cpl. Arthur W. Votaw of 312 S. Lincoln Ave., are among 3,169 servicemen returning to the United States from the Far East aboard the Navy Transport Marine Adder, which will dock in Seattle Thursday.

25 YEARS AGO — Rev. John Bauman was re-elected president of the Emmanuel American Lutheran Church at the annual meeting of the congregation last night. George Fronius is vice president and Lee Schaefer, secretary.

35 YEARS AGO — The peanut stand on Broadway must go, Safety Director Rex W. Ruggy ordered today. The stand must be taken out of the downtown area immediately, Ruggy declared. Mayor Phil Hiddleston, commenting on the stand, called it "a relic of pre-historic times."

Matter of Fact

Members of the armed services used to wear magnificent shoulder insignias known as epaulettes. The term derives from the French word for shoulder, epaule. In the 18th century elite French troops were distinguished by clusters of red ribbons on their shoulders. The epaulet was introduced into the British army about 1768 and thereafter its use became widespread. From the start the epaulet was used to indicate rank and function of both officers and men.

So They Say

We have words that mislead, such as "free enterprise" or "capitalism" or "socialism." The system... which we call capitalism is very close to what others call socialism. Both words should be thrown out.

—Dr. Charles Frankel, Columbia University professor of philosophy.

Thoughts

For I wrote you out of much affliction and anguish of heart and with many years, not to cause you pain but to let you know the abundant love that I have for you. — II Cor. 2:4.

Love is the image of God, and not a lifeless image, but the living essence of the divine nature which beams full of goodness. — Martin Luther.

If you are the Christ, tell us. But He said to them, If I tell you, you will not believe. — Luke 22:67.

If Christ is the wisdom of God and the power of God in the experience of those who trust and love Him, there needs no further argument of His divinity. — H. W. Beecher.

Labor And the '68 Election

By VICTOR RIESEL

Among labor men who know Bob Kennedy well, the belief is that he is eager to run for governor of Massachusetts. But not until 1966.

Victor Riesel
course. If Bob ran, that would make three of a kind. And massed together they would make a vulnerable political target.

Furthermore, incredibly energetic Bob Kennedy, often operating for hours from a "hideaway" desk in the White House, now is more the assistant president of the United States than the attorney general.

IT IS HE who contacted the labor people as well as the millionaires during the bitter bargaining of the Cuban prisoner exchange. It is he who, far more than our State Department, changed our policy toward powerful, previously anti-American labor leaders and politicians in Japan.

It is he who actually is shaping American propaganda policy and image-making across the world. It is he who was most discussed by the highest Conservative and Labor leaders in London recently. It is he about whom leaders of many international agencies inquired in Geneva during my recent trips.

Yet it also is he who shuttles into New York City and spends hours with key liberal and labor leaders who can help swing the pivotal, big-electoral-vote state.

So it is not likely that he would want to be away from the President's side for another few years.

But in '66 he would be in a mood to find a power base of his own. If elected he would be Massachusetts' governor for almost two years preceding the hurly-burly of the 1968 Democratic presidential nominating convention.

And, the labor leaders speculate, would he then want to be out of the whirlwinds of national and international affairs? These men of labor think he would not want that. Would he then seek the vice presidential nomination? These men of labor don't believe Bob Kennedy is a "second-place man."

THIS LEAVES only the presidential nomination.

But then what of their good friend Lyndon Johnson — to them the most active vice president in their own political history. The Texan has worked well with them. Lyndon Johnson has, for example, taken an "inventory" of some 17 million industrial workers—as a survey on employment of minorities.

Special reports fill 72 big file cabinets stored in the Senate office of the Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity. Names and races and creeds of these millions are being punched into cards for computers. The list will be analyzed.

If one group or another does not have its equal share of work, the vice president will take action.

And within a few weeks, a similar inventory of 2½ million building and construction workers will be taken. Same process.

This will make a total of 19.5 million workers in thousands of firms the "veep" will be "looking after."

ADD TO THIS the committee's active work with 5 major corporations and 120 national unions. The labor organizations have pledged specific action. They have promised to desegregate their locals, apprenticeship training operators and seniority lists.

This will make the vice president popular indeed in Northern, Midwestern and Western cities, and in circles which once considered him strictly from the other side of the political tracks.

Lyndon Johnson has flown the world, too. He heads the little-known National Aeronautics and Space Council. This committee coordinates all space agencies for the President. It was the vice president's council which first urged concentration on the big boosters for the successful outer-space flights.

He is on the National Security Council and its "ex-com." He sits in on Cabinet meetings and is far from being a stranger at the White House.

THE PRESIDENTIAL election year of 1968 is a long way off. Being the essence of political sagacity, he walks, not runs towards such a distant goal.

And the politically shrewd men of labor, knowing they will be the balance of power in future Democratic nominating conclaves, sit back and observe.

The time for action is not yet. But there is time for talk. And this is what they talk about, these agile politicians.

Read the Fine Print

By RAY CROMLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Like millions of other Americans, you may have a small business or other property that you'd sell as soon sell.

If the wrong guy gets to you, it can be quite costly—to you. This man may be one of the sharpies in the "advance fee" scheme—a racket which has taken victims for millions of dollars each year.

In the past, the advance fee racket concentrated on alleged sale of property, but since some operators were sent to jail, there has been a switch to loan schemes. Both operate the same way.

A fast-talking salesman, armed with impressive-looking brochures and similar props, assures you that his firm has a buyer for your property or can get you one. He represents himself as an expert on property values. If you place a fair value of $8,000 on your property, he'll invariably tell you that in today's market it can bring $10,000 or $12,000.

This is natural since the fee and his commission are based on a percentage of the claimed value rather than what it might bring if it were actually sold.

Fees may run anywhere from $100 to $10,000.

The salesman also says that if no sale is made in 90 days, you can get your money back. The operators then list the property in glossy, imposing catalogs which are sent to some legitimate real estate brokers.

The Truth Hurts

"When you complain finally that no sale has been made and a refund has been refused," says Burke, "you learn the awful truth: the contract you signed says nothing about guaranteed sale or any refund. Behind the clever contract terminology, no matter what the salesman says, there is just one promise—to act as an advertising service."

Because of successful prosecution of some operators, there has been a switch to allegedly obtaining loans for people who want to improve property or bolster ailing businesses. Burke says this still is worked as an advance fee scheme by some operators.

"It should be pointed out that accepting a fee in connection with sale of business or securing loans has been a legitimate operation of some reputable firms for many years," says Burke.

The main difference between the legitimate firms and the sharp operators is that in the case of honest firms the fee usually covers reasonable expenses. The fee essentially is just payments and the only way the broker makes money is to make a sale. The advance fee sharpies, on the other hand, make handsome incomes solely on the basis of fees."

Apply to Reliable Agencies
Burke's recommendations:

"If you need a loan for your business, apply to reputable sources such as a bank or similar agency. If you are turned down, find out why."

"If an advance fee operator offers to get you the loan, find out if the company he represents actually gives the loan or if the firm simply provides a 'service' to get a loan."

Before signing any contract, demand evidence that there are sources who will make the loan under circumstances that the bank or other agency refused to.

The NBBB and interested government agencies report that victims in the advance fee schemes have been operators of small lunch rooms, delicatessens, shoe repair shops, barber shops and the like.

"We always say that the best way to protect yourself," says Burke, "is to investigate before investing."

The Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce is ready to help if you are approached by any of these advance fee operators."

Peggy Ann Sell Becomes Bride of Robert Kornbau

The chapel of the First Methodist Church was the scene Sunday of the wedding of Miss Peggy Ann Sell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Sell of 835 Summit St., and Robert H. Kornbau, son of Mrs. Lawrence Boop of Girard and Joseph Kornbau of Leontonia.

Rev. William Longworth officiated at the double ring ceremony at 2:30 p.m. before an altar graced with palms and fernery and decorated with vases of white carnations and snapdragons. Traditional wedding music was played by Homer Taylor.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of silk organza. Scalloped Sabrina neckline and brief shirred sleeves enhanced the fitted bodice. Embroidered Alencon lace embellished the front panels of the wide flared skirt which swept to a chapel train. The same pattern of lace also decorated the bodice.

Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a rose-shaped cap with outline leaves of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white pompons centered with a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. William Reed, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a red sheath dress with white accessories and carried a cascade bouquet of white pompons.

William Sidingier was best man, and William Reed and William Kornbau ushered.

Mrs. Sell, mother of the bride, wore a beige lace dress and corsage of green cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Boop wore a dress of forest green linen with a corsage of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in their home.

The lace-covered bride's table was centered with a four-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple and encircled at the base with ivy and white pompons. Mrs. Henry Fink, Miss Margaret Todd and Miss Kathy Hartman served. Mrs. William Sidingier, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of Salem High School.

Mr. Kornbau attended Salem High School and is with the armed forces, stationed in Germany, where the couple will return within two weeks to make their home.

New Year's Party Held by Merryates

Seventy-nine couples enjoyed St. Paul's Merryates' New Year's Eve party at the school auditorium, and danced to the music of Bob Schuck's Orchestra.

Multi-colored balloons and red and green streamers hung from the ceiling, and the stage was decorated with evergreen boughs trimmed with strings of lights. A large silver tree hung with gold glass balls centered the dance floor. A lighted revolving colored disc focused on the sparkling tree, and candles on the small tables placed around the edge of the floor furnished the only light for the party.

Special guests were Rev. Rich-

Few Congressmen Wearing Bow Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you think the incoming 88th Congress is turning a cold face to the once-prevalent chin whiskers and mustaches, you should see what it's doing to the bow tie.

Not only are there none of those cartoonists' favorites, the string-bow and the flowing Windsor, but there are precious few of the modern, squared-off or slightly pointed bows.

This intelligence is the result of painstaking research through the newly issued pocket directory of the 88th Congress which pictures every member.

Of course, some of the 500-plus male members of the Senate and House may sometimes desert the sober four-in-hand and sport a festive bow when off camera. But when before the photographer to be recorded for posterity, only 17 of them faced the lens wearing a bow.

On the other hand, 22 face camera and voters with mustaches—albeit most of these facial decorations are conservatively meager and would have been regarded as no whiskers at all a few congressional generations ago.

The Senate—once the stronghold of the more picturesque neckwear—turns up only one bowtie wearer. And even this statistic is a bit clouded.

A bow is shown on the image of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Republican leader from Illinois. But Dirksen's picture is a drawing, rather than a photograph. So one can not be sure whether the GOP chieftain actually was wearing the bow or whether the artist employed license and put one on because he liked it.

Kennedy Attends Funeral Services For Senator Kerr

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Sen. Robert S. Kerr, Oklahoma's homespun statesman was laid to rest Friday in simple rites attended by a saddened President Kennedy and other National leaders.

Kennedy dabbed his eyes as he sat in a front row pew, a few feet from Kerr's rose-draped coffin. He was flanked by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Oklahoma's Gov. J. Howard Edmondson. Behind them were a Senate delegation of 28, several congressmen, Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, generals, admirals and a host of other state and national officials.

The bronze coffin, surrounded by scores of wreaths and flower sprays, was not opened during the services. An organ played softly but there was no choir. About 2,000 mourners filled the First Baptist Church and hundreds of others stood outside in a steady, cold rain.

Kerr 66, died Tuesday in Washington of a heart attack. He was serving his third term in the Senate and was considered one of its most influential members.

He was eulogized by his Baptist pastor Dr. Herchel Hobbs, as a man who rose from humble beginnings on an Oklahoma cotton farm to become one of the nation's most powerful men because of his vision, wisdom, courage and faith.

Kennedy walked quickly from the church and joined the Kerr family in a motorcade to Rose Hill Mausoleum where the body was interred during private rites attended by 120 persons.

The body will be moved later to Ada, in south central Oklahoma, where a memorial is planned near the log cabin where Kerr was born.

The President was whisked to Tinker Air Force Base and the return flight to Palm Beach Fla. His arrival in the presidential jet for the funeral turned out to be a race against drizzle and fog that later halted all plane landings.

Hearing Continued For Liverpool Girl

LISBON — The hearing against Patricia Tucker, 18, of Ansley Rd., East Liverpool RD 1, scheduled for Thursday in juvenile court was continued indefinitely.

Miss Tucker is serving a three-month sentence in county jail, for violation of her probation, which she received Nov. 29 in Judge Louis Tobin's court, for buying beer for a 15-year-old East Liverpool girl and then going to Steubenville where the girls were caught shoplifting.

On Dec. 16, she was brought in to court for associating with a 17-year-old East Liverpool girl, after one of her terms of her probation was not to associate with anyone under 18 years. She allegedly bought intoxicating beverage for the girl and was again charged with contributing but pleaded not guilty and the hearing was set for Jan. 3.

1. Permission to reorganize the remaining 23 Guard infantry divisions into a brigade structure as soon as possible, at the same time as the regular Army goes through this change. The aim is to avoid two separate Guard reorganizations within a couple of years.

2. Authority to exceed 400,000 men over-all from time to time during a year. The idea is to impart flexibility in apportioning strengths among the states.

3. Recognition that some states with small populations may have trouble manning high priority units at 80 per cent of full strength.

Salem Dumps Girard 90-56; Akron East Here Tonight

King, Beery Tally 21 Markers Each

By MARK W. MILLER
News Sports Editor

Salem trounced Girard 90 - 56 last night at Senior High gym, but the student body chanted throughout the contest "beat Warren, beat Warren, beat Warren."

The Quakers travel to the Panthers' den next week, but first must entertain Akron East at home tonight.

Coach John Cabas had an opportunity to experiment with various offenses, while switching around eight players during the first half last evening as the Quakers rolled to their third straight victory.

Salem dropped two of its first three contests. The loss was Girard's sixth in a row.

THE SALEM mentor substituted freely in the fourth frame. A total of 12 players saw action for the Red and Black.

Girard was a game team and hussled all the way, but Salem's classy aggregation was too fast and clever for the Indians.

After a 2-2 tie in the first minute of play Salem canned three quick baskets and Girard was never in contention again.

In spots Salem looked anything but impressive, but after the 30-16 lead in the initial period, the Quakers appeared to be coasting at times.

Coach George Light's Indians scrapped all the way and took advantage of five mistakes by Salem to chalk up 10 markers.

SALEM'S BOB KING, who gathered in 23 rebounds against Akron North last week, cleared the boards of 25 last night.

Two of the state's top officials John Russ and Mat Wansack blew the whistle 32 times against Girard and 20 fouls were charged to Salem.

The race horse tactics employed by Salem were effective right from the start. Rich Sweitzer led the Quakers in the first frame with nine points.

The Red and Black increased its margin to 49-27 at half time and held a 67-44 spread at the conclusion of the third session.

THE 'KARATE PRESS' again proved to be the difference for Salem. Each time out the Quakers get a little tougher with the defensive maneuver.

It will take a club with good passing and blazing speed to penetrate the Quakers' tough press now.

Salem is apt to find those qualities in Akron East tonight. The Orientals also possess height and fairly good shooting despite a 1-7 record.

Akron East was figured to have one of the better aggregations in the rubber city this season.

In the Girard fray Salem canned 50 per cent of its shots. The Quakers attempted 66 field goals and swished the nets 33 times. At the foul line they hit on 24 of 40 free throws for an even 60 per cent.

GIRARD, SUPPOSED to have a poor scoring punch, managed to hit a commendable 38 per cent of its shots. The Indians tried 50 and made 19 from the field.

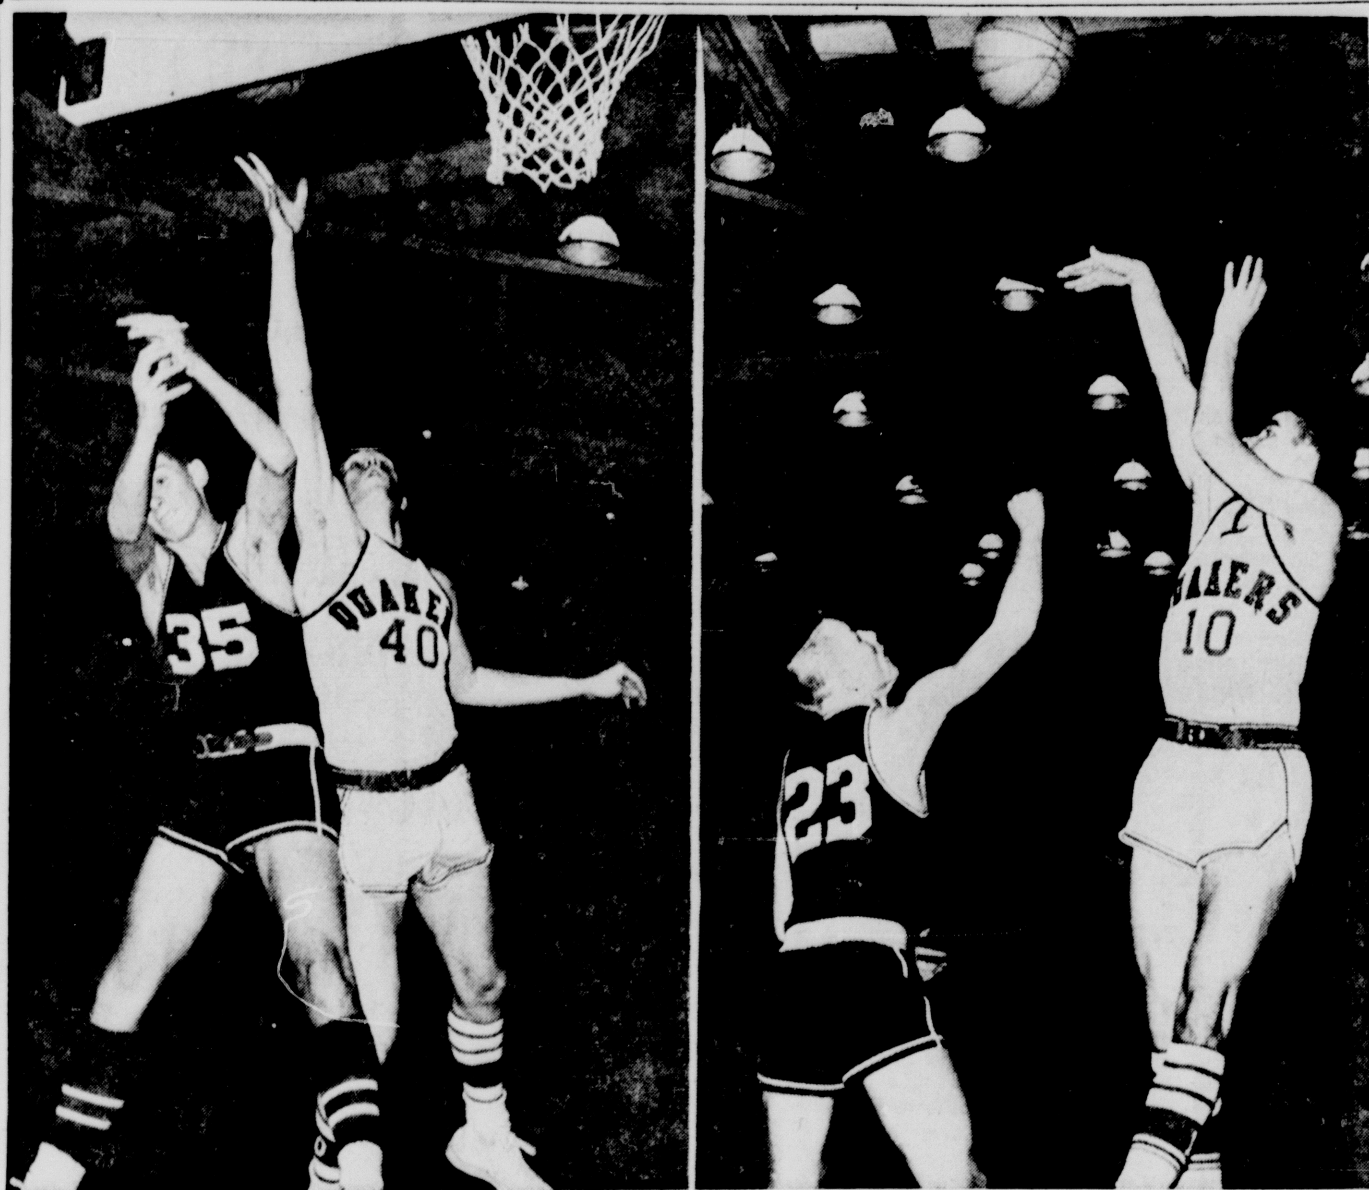

The Indians also cashed in on 18 of 23 foul shots for a respectable 78.2 per cent.

Beery and King shared scoring honors for Salem with 21 points each. Marlin Waller chipped in with 15. Girard's Emil Dzur collected 21 markers for Girard.

"Beat Warren, beat Warren, beat Warren," was the chant during the Salem, Girard tilt. The Panthers (7-1) edged Canton Lehman 49-47 last night, and tonight face Canton McKinley (5-1), who was upset by Massillon 54-52.

Dale Murphy scored 24 points and Jim Ward, 23, to lead the Columbiana Clippers to a 74 - 53 decision over East Palestine on the Bulldogs' home floor Friday night.

The win by Coach Rich Berryman's squad kept Columbiana in an overall and Tri-County League tie with the Lisbon Blue Devils. Both teams are now 5-1 overall and 2-0 in league play. The Bulldogs are 1-1 in the league and 2-4 overall.

The Bulldogs battled the Clippers tooth and nail the first half, lagging behind by a score of 35-30 at halftime. But the Berrymen surged ahead to stay in the third stanza as they pulled ahead for a 13-point advantage which they never relinquished.

Columbiana connected on 32 of 71 attempted field goals while East Palestine hit on 23 of 67.

Cincy Eyes 28th In Row; Big 10 Opens

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The spectre of a proud 27-game winning streak being shattered comes back to haunt the University of Cincinnati tonight when the Bearcats, two-time NCAA champions, play Wichita in the opening games of the Missouri Valley basketball season.

The Cincinnati-Wichita clash headlines a full schedule in which major conferences such as the Big Ten, Southeastern, Big Eight, Ivy League move into action for the first time. The plums for the winners in March will be tickets to the NCAA and National Invitation tournaments.

It was on Dec. 18, 1961, that Cincinnati brought a 27-game winning streak to Wichita. The tall Shockers edged the Bearcats, 52-51. Three weeks later, Coach Ed Jucker's club dropped a 70-68 overtime squeaker to Bradley.

That was Cincinnati's last loss. Since then, the Bearcats have won 28 games in a row. So their record shows 55 victories in their last 57 games.

Wichita Has Lost 2
Cincinnati, No. 1 team in the current Associated Press poll, has polished off all 10 of its opponents this season so far. Wichita, No. 8 in the country, has a 9-2 record with an overtime loss to Colorado and a defeat by Santa Clara marring its record.

In the Big Ten, co-favorites Illinois, No. 3 in the nation behind Loyola of Chicago, and Ohio State, No. 5, open the league chase with easy pickins. The Illini 8-1, are at Iowa 4-5, and the Buckeyes, 8-1 who lost the NCAA final to Cincinnati last year, entertain Minnesota, 4-6, in the top games.

Opening night in the SEC could tell the story for the season. Kentucky, 7-3, No. 6 in the AP poll, shooting for its 21st league title, plays undefeated Georgia Tech. at Lexington. In another key game Mississippi State, 8-2, last year's co-champion, plays 10th-ranked, undefeated Auburn.

Defending champion Colorado faces a stiff assignment in the opener of the Big Eight season against Kansas at Lawrence. The Jayhawks are on a five-game winning binge and are fresh from winning the conference tournament.

Yale Takes On Brown
In the Ivy League defending champion Yale begins operations against Brown, while its chief threat for the title, Princeton, plays Penn, which also appears tough.

The Big Six got under way Friday night with major upset. UCLA No. 9 in the country, fell before Washington, 62-61. And California, stopped Southern California, 72-65, in a battle of two of the powers of the West Coast. Going into the game each had lost only twice.

Arizona State, No. 4 in the AP poll, rolled past New Mexico State 87-60, for its 11th victory in 12 games.

'Hot-Shot' Lisbon Combine Rolls Past Leetonia 70-45

Shooting better than 50 per cent from the floor, the Lisbon Blue Devils swished the nets with 30 points in the third period to run away from the invading Leetonia Bears 70-45.

Four of the Lisbon starters ended the clash in double figures with captain Craig Pannier leading the way with 21 counters.

LITTLE'S 65
Leads LA Open
Sets Record 29 On Back 9; 66 Is 2nd

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The older guard of professional golf, topped by former National Open Champion Gene Littler, led the way into the second round of the $50,000 Los Angeles Open today.

Littler, who won the tournament in 1955, took the lead Friday with a 6-under-par 65 that included a tournament record 29 on the back nine holes. Par at the Rancho Park Golf Course is 36-35-71.

One stroke back as today's 18 holes got under way were two other veteran California pros, both former PGA champions, Jerry Barber and Bob Rosburg.

Two of the younger crowd, Johnny Pott and Bob McCallister, each with 33-34, were tied at 67. The older players dominated the 68 bracket—Art Wall Jr., Mike Souchak, Billy Maxwell, George Bayer, Al Balding and Australia's Bruce Crampton.

Palmer Shoots 69
Four shots off the pace was Arnold Palmer golf's richest winner, who toured the 7,100-yard course in 35-34-69, and, but for a cold putter, would have done even better.

Palmer missed at least five putts for birdies as most of the opening day gallery of 8,000 trampled on his heels.

The current National Open champion, Jack Nicklaus, had even worse luck. The ex-amateur king, starting his second year as a pro, was two under par when he hit into a fence on the 11th hole, and took a triple bogey 7. He wound up with 34-37-71.

Dave Rose was second high for the winners as he potted 18 points followed by Larry McPherson and Dave Klug with 12 and 11 tallies, respectively.

The victory was the fifth in six outings for the county seat crew and keeps them tied with Columbiana for the top spot in the Tri-County loop with a perfect 2-2 mark. The loss was the third in five contests for the Bears. They now stand 1-1 in league play.

Leetonia was a game crew all the way as they held their taller hosts to just a two-point margin (12-10) at the quarter post and were down by just one tally (25-24) as the teams entered the dressing rooms at halftime.

The third canto turned the game into a near-rout, however. Coach Pike's team came storming out of the dressing room and while holding the visitors to only 17 and held a comfortable 55-37 advantage as the game entered the final period.

Henry Nemenz led the Bears' futile cause as he swished the nets with eight floor shots and three charity tosses for 19 points. Frank Guerrier added 11.

Both squads return to action tonight.

Akron Garners 8th Trims Rival 85-72

WASHINGTON (AP) - Substitute Bill Turner came off the bench and scored 18 points to lead the undefeated University of Akron Zips (8-0) to an 85-72 victory over Catholic University Friday night.

Turner and Lonny Wilson teamed with Ed Wilson to dominate the backboards and lead the fast break as Akron pulled away from a 34-34 halftime score.

RANGERS HAVE NEW ACE

NEW YORK (AP) - Jean Ratelle, 22-year-old forward of the New York Rangers, is one of the top youngsters in the National Hockey League. He got off to a fine start with five goals in his first six games this season. Ratelle scored four goals in 31 games for the Blue Shirts last season.

United High School will risk a two-game winning streak against powerful Springfield Local in a Turnpike Conference clash at Hanoverton tonight.

Coach Larry Joseph's Golden Eagles trimmed Malvern 52 - 46 last night, while the Tigers nipped Canfield 64-63.

The Golden Eagles have a 3-5 record so far for the campaign. Springfield Local rolled to eighth in a row. The Tigers lost their first two games of the season.

United led all the way against Malvern with quarter scores of 15-9, 27-15 and 34-32.

Ken Votaw paced United with 12 points. Ebner led Malvern with 21 markers. Andrews had 18.

United reserves rolled to a 55-18 victory over Malvern's junior varsity.

Kindall, obtained from the Chicago Cubs in 1961 in a swap for pitcher Bobby Locke, hit .232 last season in 154 games for Cleveland. But he peppered New York Yankee pitching at a .365 clip.

Beaver Local Nipped By Carrollton 76-38

Carrollton's mighty Warriors handed the Beaver Local Beavers their fifth setback in six appearances Friday night as they humbled the invaders 76-38.

The host club was in control of the tilt from the opening tip-off as they sprinted to a 21-5 advance at the end of the first canto and coasted to a 43-18 halftime advantage. The victors were in front 53-30 entering the final eight minute of play.

Gary Noble and Norm Bryan sparked the winners as they hooped 18 and fifteen points, respectively, followed by teammates Bob Newell and Jim Davis with 14 and 10 points each.

Height and experience were the two main factors in the Beavers' loss. The tall Warriors completely dominated the boards and displayed a well-trained offense and a stingy defense.

The Beavers return to action on Tuesday when they travel to Chester, V.Va., and are on the road again Friday at Toronto.

In reserve action Friday night Carrollton's jayvees dumped the visitors 43-34.

Ohio Senators to Miss Dems 'Get-Well Party'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Ohio Democratic party's dinner-dance "get-well party" in Columbus tonight will be shy Sens. Stephen M. Young and Frank J. Lausche, Ohio Democrats.

Young, who last month criticized the theme of the fund-raising affair as "defeatist" and verbally roasted state party leadership, said he wasn't invited.

Lausche's office said the senator, recently recovered from a circulatory illness that hospitalized him for 10 days, said he "did not want to become too active" for the time being.

Young who went to Oklahoma City Friday to attend the funeral of Sen. Robert S. Kerr D-Okla., said, through aides that he was neither invited to the Columbus affair nor asked to sit on the speakers' platform.

The Columbus affair is designed to help replenish Democratic coffers after the expenses of November's disastrous—for the Democrats—elections.

Young has demanded the resignation of State Democratic Chairman William Coleman, and has insisted that Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, who lost his bid for re-election should have no part in naming Ohio delegates to the 1964 Democratic National Convention.

Young's demand for a change in state party leadership has met with mixed reaction from Ohio's Democratic congressional delegation.

Lausche and most of the House members are standing clear of the fight, at least publicly. Some of the House members have expressed off-the-record sympathy for Young's position.

Former Rep. Walter H. Moeller, Lancaster Democrat, who lost to Republican Homer Abele took a moderate view of the dispute. "If anybody has the right to be critical and bitter, it's me," he said.

But Moeller, adding that he did not place all the blame for his defeat on the Coleman-DiSalle leadership said "DiSalle may have done a better job than a lot of people think he did."

Young's position is that present state leaders have "led us down the road to defeat in the last two major elections," and should resign. Young will be up for re-election in 1964; but he has not said as yet, whether he will be a candidate. Lausche was elected to a new six-year term last November.

Young deplored what he called the "defeatist" nature of titling the fund-raising affair a "get-well party." He contended it is not the Democratic party in Ohio that is sick, but the leadership. And he suggested a more optimistic theme for the affair should have been selected.

His idea is that it should have been tied to a "forward with Kennedy in 1964" theme.

Kennedy lost Ohio in 1960, and the Republican sweep of state offices and gains in Congress last November indicate he may have even a tougher time in the state in 1964.

Young also expressed dissatisfaction with the distribution of campaign funds among party candidates a sentiment echoed by at least one other prominent Ohio Congressional Democrat who declined to be quoted by name.

Presidents Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Martin Van Buren were widowers when they entered the White House.

Unions May Publish Paper In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — A group of unions representing employees of Cleveland's two strike-bound daily newspapers say they are studying the possibility of publishing their own newspaper for the duration of the strike.

Charles Thomson, chairman of the unit group composed of 10 AFL-CIO unions, said Friday night a subcommittee had been named to study the feasibility of such a venture.

Meanwhile some progress was reported by negotiators for the Teamsters Union, which represents 455 delivery drivers at the two papers.

Moses Krislov, counsel for the Teamsters, said after a session that lasted nearly seven hours Friday "we've made a lot of progress, and it looks more hopeful now."

The Teamsters and representatives of the Plain Dealer and the Cleveland Press and News were to meet again today (2 p.m.) in an effort to end the 37-day-old strike.

Negotiators for the Cleveland Newspaper Guild, also on strike, were to meet publishers' representatives in another bargaining session (2:30 p.m.) The last session in Guild negotiations, deadlocked over a union security issue, was Wednesday.

Meanwhile the Press and News unit of the Guild scheduled a membership meeting. At a similar meeting Friday, members of the Plain Dealer unit voted about 130-10 against a motion that they go back to work while negotiations continue, the Guild reported. The guildsmen voted also to reject the publishers' offer of Dec. 21.

SENTENCED IN KILLING DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A 1-20-year sentence has been handed Donald Lee Taylor, 19, of Dayton, who pleaded guilty Friday of manslaughter in the stabbing death last Aug. 25 of Roger Glenn Tipton of Waynesville. Taylor received a 1-20-year concurrent sentence for violating parole on a forgery charge.

Mion was reported in fair condition at Memorial Hospital here. Chick and a passenger in his car were treated and released.

West Branch Board To Convene Monday

Business to be considered Monday night by the West Branch School District Board of Education includes a review of the tax rate submitted last fall by the Mahoning County Budget Commission and a report on the status of the $310,000 school bond issue passed by voters last November.

Other new business will include the employment of a new custodian at the West Branch building and discussions of the purchase of slag for the parking lot, the placing of time clocks in the Beloit building on service contract, and progress of the new building.

Old business will consist of discussions of rubber matting, cold storage and freezer unit and location of the water tank at the new school, a report of heating conditions at Goshen Center School, and a report on a pre-fabricated gas house price.

Before the regular meeting begins, the Board will hold its annual re-organization. A president and vice-president will be elected, the time for holding 1963 meetings will be set and compensation for board members agreed upon.
